CLUB PROFILE: On March 5, 1870, when yachting in Massachusetts was in its infancy, twelve successful businessmen “imbued with the true yachting spirit,” met at John Heard's home; a stately brick mansion on 3 Park Street in Boston, close to the State House with its golden dome and the famous Park Street church. On this evening the gentlemen created and organized themselves as the Eastern Yacht Club for the purpose of encouraging yacht building, naval architecture, and the cultivation of nautical science.

Within a month of meeting, the gentlemen had enrolled 110 members with 23 yachts. Already known as the "Birthplace of the American Navy," Marblehead was chosen for the location of the clubhouse with construction being completed in 1881. Marblehead became the homeport to some of the most beautiful schooners and steamers to be built during this time, establishing itself as ‘the yachting capital of the world.’

ADDITIONAL TEAM INFORMATION: Eastern Yacht Club’s team was selected from members with past experience at the Resolute and Invitational Cups combined with other talented sailors who have been competing at a high level. They've been practicing in J70 events and are getting some time in RS21s in August.
